The automobile, which contained beside the chauffeur a man and two women, was traveling along the state road at New Hartford at a rate exceeding 50 miles an hour. As it approached a bridge, the passage of which is considerably narrower than the highway, the driver lost control and the machine crashed into the iron supports of the bridge. The occupants were all thrown out and Mrs. Smith struck on her head, breaking her neck and fracturing her skull. The other occupants of the car received only slight injuries.

Neice was crossing the bridge at the time and was struck by the machine as it rebounded from the crash. He was found underneath the wreckage with a broken leg and serious injuries about the head. It is believed that he also suffers from internal injuries.

BRITISHERS ON ELECTION.

They Are Too Busy to Have Much to Say About It.

London, Nov. 4.—The London morning newspapers are too engrossed in the British political struggle to devote as much attention as usual to the New York elections. The papers in which editorial comment appears, however, heartily congratulate the citizens of New York on their display of a healthier civic spirit, and consider that Tammany has received a staggering blow from which it is not likely soon to recover.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "New York like London has achieved a substantial victory in municipal reform and will receive the congratulations of the municipal reformers under all skies." The Westminster Gazette says: "The result again demonstrates that New York city has sufficient forces working for good to rid itself of Tammany if only they would unite."

The Morning Post is not sanguine that it will prove to be the final overthrow of Tammany, which preserves its vitality, according to this paper, by changing its methods, and says that the wonder is not that Tammany should often win but that it should ever be beaten.

"The future of Democratic government in the United States," continues The Post, "is not, after all, so black as it is often painted."

The Lexington soldiers will remain during the sitting of court, which ends next Saturday.

OIL KING'S TOWN "WET."

Voters Disregard Rockefeller's Opposition to Saloons.

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Although the followers of local opinion fought hard to make 14 taverns in Westchester county dry, they succeeded in only one, Yorktown, in the northern part of the county, went non-license by 3 majority. Mr. Pleasant, where John D. Rockefeller has a country estate, was not put on the dry list, although it is reported that Mr. Rockefeller wanted it to shut out the saloon. The town went "wet" by about 400 majority.

Mr. Rockefeller has always been opposed to saloons in the neighborhood of his country mansion at Pocantico Hill, and it is said that he urged his employees to vote for non-license. Several years ago he tried to buy the country land owned by John Melin, but Melin would not sell. Three detectives were engaged to watch the place and try and get evidence for violation of the law, but the keeper was not caught.

The town of Bedford, which has been dry for several years, was for license, while the towns of Greenburgh, where William Rockefeller, Miss Helen Miller Gould, Edwin Gould and other millionaires have their homes and which contains the Ardsley Country Club and the Knollwood Golf Club, also voted for license.

In opening the sale assignee Thurston named the list, and declared that as far as could be learned it was practically worthless with the possibility of one claim against a man in New Mexico. This man, he said, was not legally bound to pay the claim, but might be willing to clear up the matter with a settlement.

FOOT BALL IS BARBAROUS.

Opinion of Archbishop Ryan in Comment on Burke's Death.

Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—"Foot ball as played at present by the college teams of this country is barbarous and ought to be abolished," said Archbishop Ryan of this city yesterday. "Instead they should play association foot ball, as it is called nowadays. It is the kind we played when I was at college, where the players kick the ball and not each other."

Archbishop Ryan's comment was brought out by the death of Michael Burke, a student at the Medical College of Chicago who received fatal injuries in a game last Saturday.

Burke, whose home was in Shenandoah, was a member of the cathedral while attending college here and was personally known to the archbishop. Burke's funeral, which will be attended by a number of Medical College students, will be held today at Shenandoah.

WATER SUPPLY POLLUTED.

Radical Action is Necessary at Rutland.

Rutland, Nov. 4.—Radical action relative to the city's water supply must be taken at once, says the state board of health in a letter addressed to Major Carpenter and the board of aldermen. The letter claims the present outbreak of typhoid and other diseases in this city is without doubt due to water pollution.

It is impossible, according to the state board of health, to eliminate the present water source of contamination without the installation of a filtration plant. They suggest the seeking of an entirely new source. This can be done by utilizing one or both branches of Cold river, which is located a few miles southeast of the city.

The board expresses a willingness to co-operate with the city in the undertaking of cleansing the watershed and will do all in its power to have rules, which were adopted by the board looking to the protection of the watershed about Mendon, respected.

The letter goes on to say that the laboratory analysis of the water during the past two months show quite uniformly sewage pollution. In concluding the communication reads:

"We beg leave to urge very emphatically on your city the necessity of taking early measures to improve the quality of your water supply by one or more of the measures mentioned in this letter. In calling your attention to this matter we shall expect prompt action on your part. Any assistance that can be rendered by this board in this connection will be at your service."

SALOON KEEPER ACQUITTED.

Case of George E. Alderman of South Vernon Dropped.

Brattleboro, Nov. 4.—The quo warranto proceedings against George E. Alderman of South Vernon, proprietor of the only saloon on the direct line between Massachusetts and Burlington, and the only one in southern Vermont, were dismissed by the supreme court "on its own motion."

The court decided that no individual or other person has power to assume the rights of the state by one warrant, and that it is for the state to say through its own officials whether it is a grievance. The petition of L. W. Brown of Vernon against Mr. Alderman was dismissed with costs.

The decision settled the litigation which has placed the only wet spot in the Indian country in jeopardy and which has created a great deal of discussion throughout the state.

It was claimed by the plaintiffs that South Vernon was not the principal village of the town of Vernon, that it was not incorporated, and it was objected by the citizens of Northfield, Mass., on account of its proximity to the Dwight L. Moody schools in Northfield and Mt. Hermon academy.

TOO MUCH NOISE.

Some Burlington People Nervous Over Quarry Blasts.

Burlington, Nov. 4.—Another meeting of the aldermanic committee, appointed to investigate the charges of W. S. Phelps relative to the operation of the city's one quarry, was held this evening. This committee has had other troubles thrust upon it and will now delve into the petition asking that the blasting be stopped on the quarry of W. S. Phelps. This petition was presented at the last meeting of the board of aldermen.

City Attorney Vilas stated that if the petitioners had no other remedy, he would be glad to refer the matter to the court. He said that the work was conducted at reasonable hours, he could not see how it would be proper for the city to take action on the matter.

Alderman Coffey said that the blasting was a menace to the public safety and invited the committee members to visit the ledge and see for themselves.

It was decided to hold a meeting on Monday evening, when the signers of the petition will be asked to be present and state just how much inconvenience and harm they suffer from the blasting.

TO SEND MAN
TO ASYLUMBianchi Found Not Guilty Because of Insanity

DECISION MADE TO-DAY

After a Short Trial Jury Brought in a Verdict of Not Guilty—Other Cases Disposed of in Washington County Court.

After a very brief trial and on the virtual order of Judge Waterman, the jury in the Washington county case of State vs. Joseph Bianchi of Railroad street, Barre, brought in a verdict of not guilty of breach of the peace by reason of insanity. Bianchi is the man who attacked Frank Durkee, a trustee in Washington county jail, when informed that Laura McKinnon, his housekeeper, had died in Washington county jail where she had been committed to await trial for illegal liquor selling.

When Bianchi was told that the woman was dead, he lunged at Durkee, crying, "You killed her," from which it is thought that he might have thought he was attacking Sheriff Tracy and not a prisoner in the jail. Durkee was one of the witnesses put on the stand today, together with Sheriff Tracy and Deputy Sheriff John Hastings, who was in the room at the time of the attack and who took part in subduing the enraged man. He was placed in a cell, after which he proceeded to break up what little furniture there was at hand. Sheriff Tracy then took him to the hospital ward, where the man had been kept ever since.

Dr. Delfino of Barre and Dr. W. L. Wasson of the state insane asylum at Waterbury were the physicians who testified today, they stating that they had examined the man this morning and that he had "epilepsy" and when he was in that condition he was irresponsible. There was then a consultation between State's Attorney Gates and Attorney M. M. Gordon for the respondent, after which no further evidence was presented.

The jury returned with the verdict as above after being out only a few minutes. In addition to this, the court has granted two divorce cases, Mattie Lamb of Montpelier has been granted a divorce from Charles Lamb on the ground of desertion. Allice Simons of Montpelier has been granted a divorce from Charles Simons on the ground of desertion and refusal to support. The court continued with liquor cases this afternoon.

FOUND NOT GUILTY.

John Stewart's Case Concluded in County Court.

About two hours after the case had been given to them, the jury in the Washington county case of State vs. John Stewart of Barre, charged with keeping liquor for sale and selling, brought in a verdict of not guilty yesterday afternoon. The jurors were as follows:

H. E. Sargent of Barre Town, Lee Scott of Marshfield, Hazen Arnesen and Henry E. Badger of Middlesex, Fred Corlies of Calais, P. J. Dunn of Fayston, H. A. Daniels of Moretown, F. W. Drinkwater of Roxbury, Arthur D. Lyon of Waterbury, Myron C. Maccham of Worcester, Edward N. Nichols of Montpelier, and Henry C. Pease of Fayston.

The case grew out of a raid at the house of Mrs. Minnie Willis of Barre, after which Stewart claimed it, being at once arrested on his presentation, and Mrs. Willis being released.

Alexander Airth testified that he had bought liquor at the Willis house and paid for it, but he could not identify Stewart as the man from whom he had made the purchase. Andrew Anderson followed, testifying in the same vein to the effect that he had bought liquor there but could not say from whom. Stewart when put on the stand denied the ownership of the liquor, saying that he had led in order to aid Mrs. Willis. Mrs. Willis corroborated his evidence, saying that he did not own a drop of it.

He claimed that Wright had been drinking and became angry and called him names. Peterson said he pushed him away from him and Wright's head hit the door of the store, causing a slight bruise on the side of his head. At this Wright went to the police station and entered a complaint against Peterson.

Burlington, Nov. 4.—Judge J. E. Weeks of Middlebury, member of the state board of Penal Institutions was in the city yesterday. Judge Weeks when asked in regard to the diphtheria scare at the industrial school, Vergennes said that there were thirty cases in the school but that all were under strict quarantine and every precaution was being made against the spread of the disease. "The disease, it is thought, spread from the case of a boy who came to the institution about two weeks ago. He had a mild sore throat at the time but did not come down with the disease until several days afterwards. He was employed in the laundry and the germs were thus carried to every part of the building. Some of the boys of the institution who attended the public high school have been taken out for the remainder of the term, and the epidemic badly demoralizes the work at the industrial school for the time being."
